

IRG 49 Sponsorship Packages

Sponsorship at the first ever IRG conference on the African Continent provides you with an outstanding opportunity to gain exposure to an international and regional African market through the international and regional delegates who will be attending.

Organisations and companies will be able to display their presence and gain recognition for their organisation and product, to a dedicated target market. Companies will be networking with industry leaders, the key decision makers, and their scientific delegates whilst learning about new trends, innovations, and technology in the wood protection industry. This Conference offers new insights which are gained from the scientific papers being presented – maybe the start of a catalyst for new business opportunities.

Demonstrate your organisations relevance through involvement by becoming a sponsor of this Conference, and by positively committing to supporting IRG 49, gives organisations opportunity to launch new solutions, products or services to the wood protection audience who have the decision-making ability.
